About Me:

I was raised in Calhoun, Georgia and graduated from Calhoun High School. I attended Georgia Institute of Technology and Southern Tech in Industrial Engineering. I met my husband, Patrick, at GT. I went on to the University of Georgia later for my master in mathematics education. After raising two wonderful boys, I went to Piedmont University for my specialist in education. I have been working in Dawson County since 2005 in grades six through twelve. Helping students learn math has been a calling I am so happy I was able to fulfill. My wish/hope for my students is they can say they have learned something in my class that they will continue to use. Whether it is algebra, organizational skills, how to work in groups, or a number of other things. Learning is life-long.

Below is a picture of my family and some of my previous students working on their puzzle project for me.
